

What is an Independent Third Person?

An Independent Third Person is also called an ITP.

You can have an ITP when you meet police.

An ITP can help you:

- understand what is happening
- understand police questions
- talk to police.

An ITP can help you call:

- a lawyer
- a support person.

An ITP can sit with you when you talk to police.

An ITP cannot give you legal advice.

This means an ITP cannot tell you what you should do.

You can ask the ITP to leave if you do not want them there.
